Hello everyone! I hope you are all adjusting to the “New Normal”. This week we started the online classes and we have had success! I still encounter speed bumps along the way but we have been able to fix any technical issues one day at a time. We all are experiencing new learning curves in our day to day lives. Stay patient and positive through it all. This is one for the books and someday we will all look back as this and say remember when...

Just a few notes to help us out on our end:

- Please make sure students are still dressed appropriately for dance and maintain all dress code rules.
- When you are participating in on line session please avoid extra siblings running around during class as well as our furry four legged friends. This is a distraction to others and is a potential accident if they trip over the above mentioned.
- Please find a safe place for your child to dance in. Give them ample space so that they can do their movements.
- Please schedule time in their days to practice their dances. They need to be prepared for class as if they were coming into the studio. This means they should know their existing material as well as anything that is taught on line.

We want them to feel that nothing has changed for them just our way of communicating has advanced. This too shall pass and we will be up and ready to continue forward as if nothing happened. I am so proud of my dancers, parents and my faculty. Your loyalty and trust in this process speaks volumes and I am forever grateful.

Please stay positive, strong and healthy,

Ms. Dawn
